KERN SAYS TOLLS REPEAL WILL PASS

Effort made to permit railroad-owned ships to use the Panama canal.

Senator Borah attacked the argument yesterday of Senator Root that the nation violates the Hay-Pauncefote treaty in the Panama canal. He said that the treaty is not a treaty of commerce, but a treaty of navigation, and that it does not give the United States the right to impose tolls on ships of other nations.

Chamberlain Opposes Bill.

"If the United States has not the power without the violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, to exempt its vessels of war and commerce from the payment of tolls," Senator Chamberlain said, "then must be said and done with respect to the violation in the treaty with the republic of Panama of May 1904, article 19, which provides, among other things, that the government of the republic of Panama shall have the right to transport over the canal its vessels and its troops and munitions of war in such vessels at all times without paying charges of any kind."

This provision is a part of the consideration paid by the United States for the canal zone, and is a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. It is possible for us to grant to Panama, without a violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, a higher right than that which we grant to ourselves, and which, it is insisted, is a violation of the terms of that treaty. Must that stipulation be disregarded? It is a part of the consideration for the territory acquired by the United States.

Representative of the question as he had heard. "I know of no means whereby the ideas of the employer and the employee can be harmonized," he subsequently asserted.

The National Civic Federation support to advocate the passing of a workmen's compensation act," asked Mr. Hilgert in rebuttal.

"I did," Mr. Compers admitted. He also admitted that Andrew Carnegie and other capitalists were prominent members of the National Civic Federation, and that a possible reason for the discrepancy with his own view was that no harmony existed between the capitalists and labor, class, excluded.

He would appeal to the devil and his mother-in-law if it would benefit the working class.

Joseph J. Effort, a leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, followed Mr. Compers as a witness. His organization, he said, did not object to arbitration of disputes, provided the arbitration board was composed of employees and employers exclusively, and its decision was referred for a vote to the workers themselves. He indicated the inclusion of an arbitration board of "public-spirited citizens" having the time to spare to devote to the sport, called "peace duty."

STRIKE PROBE TO BE MADE, BEGINS TODAY

Mediators at Work.

TRINIDAD, May 22.—The scene of the Ludlow battle of April 20 was inspected today by W. R. Fairley and other mediators, federal strike mediators. The commission, accompanied by a visiting new Ludlow colony, strike leaders, conducted the government investigators over the ground, showing them the new colony and the site of the old one, and giving their version of the events which culminated in the burning of the tents.

The committee also visited several mines in the Ludlow district, examining its study of working and living conditions among the coal company employees.

Strike leaders, who had agreed to stop picketing by their men at railroad stations, today complained to the military authorities that employees of the coal-mining companies were inspecting all trains arriving at Trinidad. The army officials took the complaint under advisement, pending an investigation.

Tomorrow the mediators planned to go to Aguilar, visit the mines in the Green canon district, then enter north as far as Walsenburg.

CHASE MAKES REPORT

DENVER, May 22.—A report on the military occupation of the Colorado coal strike zone prepared by Adj. Gen. John Chase, at the direction of Governor Ammons for the use of the congressional strike investigating committee, was made public here today.

The report consists of an account of the principal events of the strike from the time the state troops were called out on October 28, of last year, until their withdrawal in April, as prepared by the adjutant general and members of the judge-advocate's department.

Incidents of charges against the militia and the "business" for the union before the congressional committee are contained in the report and a number of affidavits are submitted, setting forth the versions of the state military authorities.

The report is printed in book form for general public distribution.

Three More Arrests

BOULDER, May 22.—Three additional arrests were made late today on the indictment returned by the recent grand jury. Investigating the assault on the Nicola mess at Louisville, April 29. Those arrested today are John Doak, William Palmer of Louisville, and Alexander Clark of Lafayette, all strikers. The men were released on bonds of $100 each. They are charged with conspiracy to murder.

Mexican War Costs Almost $6,000,000 Up to Present Time

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The "further urgent deficiency" appropriation bill, making provision for more than $6,000,000 for the present fiscal year largely on account of the Mexican crisis, was before the house today for action. An interesting statement had been prepared by the war department to show exactly the approximate amount of deficiencies in appropriations of the quartermaster's department of the army, due to the Mexican situation to June 30, next. This made a total of $4,723,156. It includes $3,100,148 for subsistence, $2,420,020 for transportation of the army, both along the border and to Mexico and numerous other items relating to the army and other branches of the government.

The figures presented showed that fitting the chartered ships for troops and animals cost $110,000. For horse-shoes and nails alone the bill carries $25,000. The chartering of the steamers Saltillo and San Marcos to June 30, cost $15,000 and for chartering of additional steamers to June 30, $37,500. The cost of moving the troops to the Mexican border during April cost $155,592.

Among other things the bill meets a war department estimate of $43,330 for movement of troops on account of the Colorado strike and $11,175 for the squadron of the Twelfth cavalry from Fort Meade to Fort Wingate. It was set out that the expenses of the house mines committee that investigated the Colorado and Michigan strikes aggregated $5,000 and $4,000 respectively. This is a total expense to date of $9,000. An appropriation of $15,000 was authorized for these inquiries and the two committees are expected to use all of it before completing their work.

CRONIN BROTHERS TO BE PUT ON TRIAL TODAY

TRINIDAD, May 22.—The trial of Charles and Timothy Cronin brothers, charged with assault with intent to murder W. M. Williams, a Trinidad lumber dealer, was set for tomorrow in the district court. Williams was attacked in his office on the night of March 25 and his skull fractured in five places.

The case is complicated by the alleged confession of George McDonald, McDonald, arrested at Pueblo, is said to have admitted that he and a companion committed the assault.

MEDIATORS IGNORE REBEL CONTROVERSY

of Constitutional participation. Forward with their efforts to arrive at an agreement between the United States and the Huerta government.

The possibility of Constitutional participation was discussed in private by many of the principals of the conference. One of the mediators indicated they were anxious to extend the Constitutionalists and then withdrawn. They feel that the next move must come from the Constitutionalists and that their entry must be unconditional, just as were the acceptance by the United States and the Huerta government of the tender of good offices for mediation.

View of Mediators.

The view held by the mediators that for the present the most feasible way of solving the Mexican problem is to effect a bipartite agreement between the Huerta government and the United States, reserving efforts to secure approval of the program by the Constitutionalists, is known to delegates. They have not committed themselves to any course of action should the Constitutionalists desire to enter the negotiations. Originally, it is understood, the Huerta government had no objection to the entry of the Constitutionalists in the negotiations. The Mexican delegates, however, in their statement, emphasized that they had no official word on the subject.

The fact that the mediators spent most of their time with the American commissioners today was said to be due to the necessity of the latter to refer to the various points of importance in the Washington government as they advance in the talks.

President Wilson in Touch

Two long communications passed between the White House and the American delegates and when they conferred late tonight with the mediators it was understood that they still were discussing the order in which the various points in the mediation would be approached.

One of the American commissioners said tonight that no common ground had been reached, but that progress was being made at each session.

Between the competence of the day, while the telegraph wires were transmitting communications to and from Washington, the mediators and the American and Mexican delegates went to the table about the fall.

The final conference between the mediators and the American delegates adjourned a few minutes before midnight.

ANTITRUST PROGRAM GETS UNDER WAY

to serve six-year terms at salaries of $15,000 a year. The commission would have the bureau of corporations and heads of departments in Washington. It would receive reports from all industrial corporations capitalized at $1,000,000 or more, as well as from certain others that may be designated. The commission, upon request of the president, attorney general or congress, would investigate all reports as to antitrust law violations, including recommendations for readjustment of business.

Night sessions of the house on the Clayton antitrust bill began tonight.

At tonight's session, Representative Volstead of Minnesota, ranking Republican member of the judiciary committee, introduced the Clayton bill. He said the measure was "imperfect and weak" and asserted that it would weaken the Sherman antitrust law as interpreted by the courts. He advocated a bill that would "remove all the water out of industrial monopolies" and thus reduce the power of big business.

Representative Madden of Illinois asserted there was no general need of widespread demand for its passage. He pointed out several features which he said by their own terms destroyed their usefulness. He concluded with a warning to the Democrats.

Like Mexican War.

"It would be impossible," he said, "to carry the bill and ultimate effect of the program of legislation to be laid before us to constitute a Democratic antitrust program. To compare it to the efforts, local and external, of the uprising revolution and counter-revolution going on in Mexico during the last three years would unduly justify the latter. To draw comparisons between Villa and Carranza and Democratic leaders would be too intensely provocative and not understanding the respectable character of the new in charge of the country affairs, I warn them to pause before they destroy the little of business prosperity which has survived their word thus far, and to forbear to break up the solid foundations upon which all prosperity may hereafter rest, to give time for investigation, and a kinder reception than they have heretofore given to the voice of reason and justice."

MAN WINS FREEDOM BY CONDUCTING HIS OWN CASE

PUEBLO, Colo., May 22.—Following an impassioned plea to the jury by E. E. Turner, who was charged with robbing a bank, the jury today freed him. Turner, and Charles Kell, who were accused with him, were declared not guilty in district court today. Turner insisted on addressing the jury himself, and with tears streaming down his cheeks, pleaded for his liberty and that of his friend. The jury freed the pair after deliberating about an hour.

POLICEMAN FINDS PAPERS WORTH $10,000 IN DOORWAY

DENVER, May 22.—Papers said to include deposit slips for approximately $10,000, were found today by Patrolman McCabe in a doorway. They were found within an hour after Mrs. Rosie Turner reported to the police that the papers had been taken from a trunk in her apartments during the night.

WALTER TRAVIS IN ENGLEWOOD FINALS

Will Be Pitted Against Kirby, Who Has Played Superb Game so Far

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 22.—Walter J. Travis of Garden City, three times winner of both the national and metropolitan amateur golf championships, reached the final stage of the year's metropolitan tour today.

The other finalist, Oswald Kirby, of the New York club, played just as well as did the veteran all through the week. The 25-hole final tomorrow promises to be productive of some interesting golf, as both Travis and Kirby have been playing to the top of their game.

Travis today defeated Percy Platt of the New York Golf club in the third round by 6 up and 4, and won the semifinal round from Roy D. Webb of Englewood, by 3 up and 2.

Of the two survivors, Kirby was the more spectacular in his club work, except for a bad trip in the bunker at the fourth green in the morning round against the former intercollegiate champion, Max R. Marston of Baltusrol, N. J. He had a fine chance to hang up a new competitive record for the course. After the mid-play he had to pick up, and a possible 4 for the hole was made a 5 by an approximation, which gave it 4 for the round.

In the semifinal match, Kirby nullified Kirby's 2-1 lead by a 4-3 hole-in-one, a former winner of the national and metropolitan titles, by 1 and 2.

KENTUCKY HANDICAP WILL BE RUN AT LOUISVILLE

Thirteen Noted Racers to Start in Opening Event Today; Purse Aggregate More Than $15,000

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 22.—One of 50 nominations, 13 noted racers of all ages are carded to start in the Kentucky handicap at one mile and a quarter, at Douglas park, tomorrow. The handicap is the feature of the opening day of the spring meeting and carries a $10,000 added purse, the purse aggregate approximately $14,000, of which more than $10,000 will go to the winners.

Budolph, owned by H. H. Emmons of Louisville, and winner of the handicap last year, carries top weight, 117 pounds, and appears to be the favorite. Donnell, carrying 115 pounds, who ran second to Old Rosebud in this year's Kentucky derby, and Gowell, 110 pounds, victor in last season's Loretta derby, are also strongly equipped.

Among the dark horses picked are Luke McKee, owned by J. W. Schorr of Memphis, and Molloy, owned by James McManus, the California turfman.

A. A. U. Takes Records Made by Yankee Team in Australian Trip in 1913

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Word that the Australasian Amateur Athletic union has accepted as official the records made by the members of the all-American track team that defeated everything in sight in the Antipodes last winter, was received here today. William Unnacker, chairman of the records committee of the Pacific Athletic association, announced the news.

There included the record of 100 yds. in the shot put made by Reginald Canning of Ukiah, Cal., high school, which was disputed at first, and a record of 4-4-5 records for the yards high hurdles made by Rube Templeton of Stanford university, which ties the world's record.

Templeton also made new Australasian records in the pole vault and javelin throw, while George Parker of Stockton, Cal., high school, established new marks in the sprints, and James Fowler of the Boston Athletic club in the mile and half mile.

LIPTON'S SHAMROCK FUNNY LOOKING BOAT, REPORTS SAY

Length of Boat, Area or Mast Is Not Given by Designer; Yacht Appears to Be Sawed Off

COSPORT, Eng., May 22.—The first inspection was permitted today of Shamrock IV, in the Camper and Nicholson yard.

Charles K. Nicholson, designer of the yacht, assisted in laying bare some of her secrets, but refused to disclose all, notably her sail area, and the height of her mast.

The form of the Shamrock's hull, however, makes it evident that the sail area will considerably exceed the 8,000 and odd square feet, which it is reported, the Resolute will carry.

The following figures of the Shamrock's dimensions may be regarded as authoritative:

Length over all, 110 feet; length on water, 75 feet; greatest beam, 22 feet; draft without centerboard, 18.5 feet. With the centerboard full down, 10 feet additional.

When the boat is heeled in a stiff breeze, she produces a sawed-off effect, which detracts from her appearance.

Like the Resolute she will be fitted with a single headsail. The challenger will have a hollow wooden mast. The centerboard is a thin metal plate.

"Frankly," said the designer, "the centerboard is purely experimental."

In design the Shamrock IV is original, if somewhat freakish. She will start across the Atlantic about July 20.

the representatives here still were awaiting final word from General Carranza on their proposal to accede to the wishes of the American government and send a spokesman to Niagara Falls.

It was pointed out tonight that if the Constitutionalists finally sent one of their number, he would not go as a delegate or with the purpose of seeking participation in mediation, but merely to give information as to General Carranza's plans and purposes. This would be done with the understanding that the Constitutionalists were not committed to any plan the mediators might propose for the pacification of Mexico.

BECKER TO PAY DEATH PENALTY

defense and District Attorney Whitman and his staff were the only other persons allowed admission. The defendant's two brothers, Jackson and John Becker, the latter a detective lieutenant, hurried to a side entrance where they stood awaiting the verdict.

When the little group in the court room had found seats the 25 men who alone knew Becker's fate filed silently in with Foreman F. Meriden Blagden at their head.

Expected to Be Freed

Becker in the room overhead, was still talking to his wife when Supreme Court Justice Seabury took his seat. A bailiff was sent for the defendant. Becker, his wife, and the left her. "It's all right," he told her. "Don't worry. They'll free me."

Becker walked briskly to the rail facing Justice Seabury and knipped it with both hands. His face was colorless. He glanced hopefully at the jury, but did not catch the eye of a single man. Clerk Penny asked the jury to rise.

"Foreman," he said, "have you reached a verdict?" Blagden, a young man, brushed his eye with a handkerchief, already damp. "We have," he said softly. "We find the defendant—"

He hesitated a moment and continued in a whisper: "We find this defendant guilty as charged in the indictment; guilty of murder in the first degree."

Becker Near Collapse

Becker's face was gray as he gripped the bar in front of him. The big muscles in his neck jumped out.

Rosy as a Girl

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl. Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieved pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At druggists."

MELLEN WAS INDICTED TO SAVE MORGAN

myself to continue the conference. I told them that we would continue the conference on the basis that they should give no further attention to the question of surrendering the New London northern road; that they might do as they pleased with it; I did not care.

Fall Into Their Trap

"I was asked to put my views in the form of a proposition or contract, which I did. It was submitted to them and within a week the grand jury proceedings commenced in New York and I was indicted."

"Did you write a letter to the district attorney taking the responsibility?" asked Mr. Folk.

"I did, and I did it for the sole purpose of shielding Mr. Morgan."

"At whose instance did you write that letter?"

"I wrote that letter at the instance of Mr. Lewis Cass Ledyard and Mr. Edward D. Robbins."

"Who dictated it?"

"I dictated a letter, which was redrafted by Mr. Robbins and corrected by Mr. Ledyard. I signed it in their presence and sent it to the United States district attorney, and I nearly killed everybody in the office in keeping Mr. Morgan's name out of it."

Kept Morgan Out of It

"To keep Mr. Morgan's name out of what?" asked Mr. Folk.

"Of the whole proceeding."

"Had Mr. Morgan been subpoenaed in the case?"

"I had learned through my counsel I did not know it at that time. That he was subpoenaed and his subpoena was quashed or nolle, whatever your legal term is for that action."

"Did you have any conversation with the present director of the road, Mr. J. P. Morgan, Jr.?" queried Mr. Folk.

"At the time Mr. Morgan called upon me, I thought the change in the presidency was desirable. I called his attention to the fact that I had been suffering under the humiliation of an undeserved indictment to protect his father. He seemed quite affected; he turned to the window to compose his feelings and returned to the conversation with the remark that his father's condition of health at that time was such that it would undoubtedly have killed him if he had been indicted."

"Almost in a whisper," he replied: "Yes."

Granted Week to Appeal

As to his occupation, Becker said he was a former police officer in the city of New York, a Catholic, and of temperate habits.

Justice Seabury thanked each man of the jury for his services and they left the room.

Manton, told by the court he would be granted a reasonable time in which to make any motions he deemed advisable, asked for one week and received it.

The whole proceeding from the time Becker was pronounced guilty until a recess was declared occupied scarcely four minutes.

In the meantime, Jackson and John Becker, standing at the door to the court room, had heard the verdict. Jackson sank into a court attendant's chair and buried his face in his hands. Mrs. Becker's brother, John Lynch, and John Becker, both of them, showing their grief, hurried to the room where Becker's wife was waiting. Everybody in the building, and even the crowd in the street outside, knew that Becker had been found guilty.

Mrs. Becker Breaks Down

But Mrs. Becker, sitting behind closed doors, did not know it until John Becker entered the room. His face showed what had happened. His shoulders were bent and shaking, his cheeks were wet. Mrs. Becker collapsed and was still sobbing when her husband was led into the room. She threw her arms around his neck and buried her face on his shoulder.

"Oh," she cried, "Charlie, I'm so sorry. So sorry. Poor Charlie, I didn't expect it."

She released her husband from her arms and dropped into a chair. Becker stood looking down at her as she wept.

"Handcuffs were then locked about his wrists; he was taken to the other side of the building, across the Bridge of Sighs and into the Tombs. OR his way around the corridor friends expressed their sorrow."

"I am very, very sorry for myself," he declared grimly. "I have nothing more to say."

Manton's Statement

After the court adjourned Mr. Manton said:

"I fail to see how the jury managed to convict Becker, in view of the conflicting evidence that was presented by the witnesses for the state and the testimony that our witnesses gave. However, it has been done. I will immediately get to work to prepare an appeal. We will fight, and fight hard, to have Becker cleared of this charge."

District Attorney Whitman expressed himself highly gratified with the verdict.

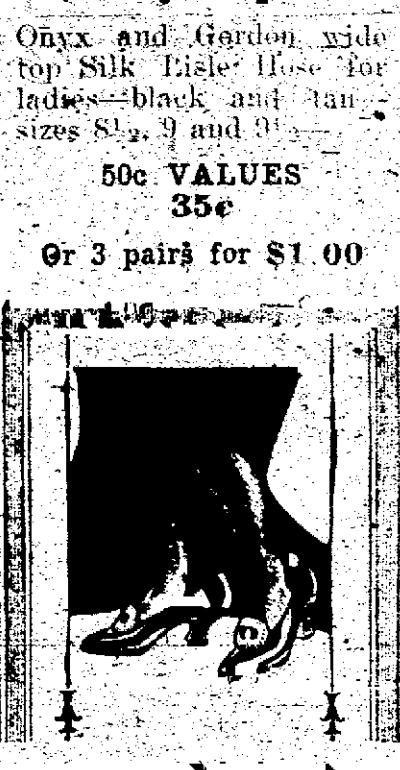

"It speaks for itself," he said. "Becker is guilty. It was proved."

Trial Lasts 16 Days

Mrs. Becker remained in the sheriff's office a long time after her husband had been returned to the Tombs. She was overjoyed with grief to leave immediately. When she went at last, she had to be assisted from the building.

This, the sixteenth and last day of the second trial, was devoted to the judge's charge and the deliberation of the jury. Judge Seabury directed the jury that to find the defendant guilty they must decide that the stories of Rose, Tallon and Webber were supported by witnesses not involved in the crime. This centered emphasis on the testimony of Charles B. Pitt, Jr., who was Becker's present agent when the former police lieutenant was member of the old strong arm squad. Pitt was a witness for the defense at the first trial, but at the second he took the stand at the call of the district attorney. Becker's attorneys tried to prove that Pitt also was an accomplice, but the court left this question to the jury and their verdict showed that they decided he was not.

His Opinion of Railroad Men

Mr. Folk, during the day, asked Mr. Mellen various members of the New Haven board.

"Sidney W. Winslow," said Mr. Mellen, "is a wealthy man of great resources. He was one time owner of the Boston Traveler."

"John L. Billard," Mr. Mellen said, "was 'the salt of the earth.'"

"Samuel Rea," Mr. Mellen said, "is the president of the Pennsylvania little branch line that runs into Washington."

Describing Lawrence Minot, Mellen said:

"He is a retired lawyer of Boston and is fashionable when you go to Boston to leave your property."

Minot to handle, because he is so high minded that he can take better care of it than anybody else."

That was the condition I understood he was in when I took the responsibility upon myself and took the indictment that belonged to him."

On the Stand Four Days

The letter which Mr. Mellen said he wrote to the district attorney at New York for the purpose of shielding Mr. Morgan was not introduced in evidence and Mr. Folk said afterward it was not in his possession.

The closing scene of the day concluded the four days of grueling interrogation which Mr. Mellen had undergone. Before the Morgan climax was reached, Governor Folk had developed the part taken by the various directors of the New Haven in the vast financial preparations of the system.

That was the condition I understood he was in when I took the responsibility upon myself and took the indictment that belonged to him."

Mr. Mellen also testified as to "holdups" in stocks to which he had been subjected as president of the New Haven and said it was due to intimations that came to him that if legislation was enacted it would be a good idea to trade in stocks.

May Be Recalled

At the conclusion of the hearing today, Mr. Mellen had not been excused as a witness, but is subject to recall at any time.

The extent to which Mr. Mellen's testimony may render him in demand for prosecution is still an open question. Officials of the department of justice have expressed the view that the testimony would raise the question of immunity, but the interstate commerce commission has proceeded on the ground that the testimony was called for by a resolution of the United States senate without reference to what its effect might be.

Governor Folk probably will have either Lewis Cass Ledyard or George F. Baker of the New Haven directors on the stand as the next witness at the trial.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasion. All this we have in the kidney region, headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; it is expensive; makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Sign Posts and Publicity

We are going to try to clear up today the two points of criticism which we were unable to cover yesterday in our reply to Mrs. F. B. Clark's letter, the need for sign posts directing passengers where to wait for cars, and the double fare.

It is the rule of this company to have all cars stopped on the far side of street intersections, and until Mrs. Clark's letter was published we always believed that that rule was generally understood.

Moreover, at all points on our interurban lines where there might be uncertainty as to where the cars would stop we have had signs erected reading either "CARS STOP HERE" or "CARS DO NOT STOP HERE."

It is possible, however, that we may have overlooked a few points where additional signs would be of benefit to the public. Therefore, if Mrs. Clark or any other citizen of this vicinity will show us where the need for such signs, we will be glad to supply them, for it is certainly to our interest to please our patrons and secure their traffic, and to do so in every way that is consistent with the proper handling of the cars.

We cannot accede to Mrs. Clark's request that we charge only a single fare on our Maniton, Canon and Broadmoor lines, because that would force us to operate our cars at a loss. Our books, which are publicly audited each year, will substantiate this statement.

We are not going to quote any figures in this talk because Mrs. Clark says they exasperate her—and we don't want to exasperate anybody. But we will be glad to have her call upon us at any time and discuss with us any features of our service which she thinks could be improved upon.

Right here we wish to supply the people of Colorado Springs with some additional information regarding the purpose of these talks.

We are trying to eradicate from the public mind the mistaken idea that all public utility corporations are evil monsters, swollen with dishonest millions that they have gained out of a downtrodden public, and ever on the alert to take advantage of the people that support them.

This idea has been encouraged for years by a long series of unanswered attacks embracing misrepresentations, untruths, half truths and, we must confess, in some cases, truths.

We believe, however, that a corporation that is playing the game square can do a whole lot toward wiping out any unfriendly feelings that may have been stirred up against it by misrepresentations, if it takes the public honestly in its confidence. Hence this campaign of publicity.

But Publicity is not a magic wand, one wave of which will transmute base metal into gold. Neither is it the crystal of the mesmerist, to hypnotize critics of the roaring lion type into meek and blentling lambs.

It is nothing more or less than a means of reaching with your plea as many drops in that great sea of humanity, the public, as is possible. And if your plea is just, if your protestations are backed by performance, if your case is well stated, and—last but not least—if you are right, experience tends to indicate that in the end your cause will prevail.

At least, that is the theory we are working upon, for we believe that in the long run the sober thought, good sense and fairness of the American people may be relied upon to check all injustices, even when a corporation is the victim.

P. S. We will continue our discussion of double fares tomorrow.

Consul Silliman at Tampico advised the state department, however, that American employees should not return to the oil fields unless they are assured of employment, many of the companies having indicated their purpose to limit their operations under present conditions.

The consul also reported that while it had been impossible to secure post-

WASHINGTON FOREST FIRES CONTINUE TO RAGE

SEATTLE, Wash., May 22.—The day was unfavorable for the checking of forest fires in western Washington today, for a dry east wind was blowing. Tonight there seems a likelihood that the promised rain will quench some of the fires. Most of the fires are on hilly or mountainous land, some of which are burning small trees. In only one place along the Soloway river, in Clallam county, is the fire in the timber, and here it is moving slowly down the ground and not in the tops of trees.

FACTS ARE ESSENTIAL

SEVERAL persons have voluntarily visited Mr. Wilson recently to discuss with him the situation in the Colorado coal fields. Doubtless others will go to Washington for the same purpose. It is the right and privilege of every citizen to ask an audience with the President. Furthermore, if the President is to take affairs in hand and attempt to bring about a just settlement of the situation here it is right that he should have the fullest possible information on both sides. It is a poor cause that cannot stand impartial investigation and impartial investigation is absolutely the only thing that can furnish a basis for any constructive legislation.

But let everyone who sees the President relative to the situation here in Colorado—everyone, be he or she a private citizen, a member of our congressional delegation, a writer or a Federal investigator—tell the truth, and nothing but the truth. It is the duty of everyone at this time to restrain from all exaggeration, ill-feeling and bitterness. In the long run the true facts of the case can do nothing but good. And if magazine and newspaper writers, investigators and citizens generally will keep this in mind they will aid greatly in solving the problem.

WHERE SAFETY LIES

INsofar as the health department of the city and the physicians generally are concerned, the "mad dog scare" is not going to die down. It positively has been proved that dogs killed here have rabies, and it will take some time to stamp it out. But up to the present time no human being has shown any symptoms of the disease. It is necessary to kill some of the dogs, but people should be sane in the matter and not report a "mad" dog every time a dog is shot in the streets because it cannot be captured.

The truth of the matter is, however, that if a person is bitten by a dog his safety lies in keeping that dog alive until a physician can kill it with chloroform. To determine exactly whether an animal is infected with rabies the Pasteur experts must have a section of the brain. So public safety lies in obeying the laws regarding muzzling dogs and sending for the health officers when an animal shows signs of being ill or when anyone is bitten.

DR. ARNOLD AND THE BIRDS

ONE who would grow old gracefully and retain the spirit of youth must keep moving and engage in some altruistic or humane work aside from his regular business life. This is the principle upon which Dr. W. W. Arnold of this city has managed to keep more than seventy years young.

Following a long career of ministering to the sick and distressed the good doctor has turned his attention to the birds, those interesting and beautiful creatures of the air that long have been the victims of men. Not only does the doctor study the birds and care for them, but he has begun to work among the children to build up an interest and love for the little creatures. At frequent intervals he addresses the pupils in the primary grades and already has the idea well implanted.

Recently he has gone out to meet the children in other cities, and the Times at Fort Morgan says that Dr. Arnold managed to address all the children of the eighteen grades there in two hours recently.

It is a work of love and usefulness that might well be followed by others. Singing birds are not only the glory of the parks, the woods and fields, but they are also among man's best friends. He should protect them. Nature has a way of keeping a balance between the land and the birds, beasts and fishes. In ages past survival of species has been a question of food supply, but now, fighting against man's invention of modern firearms, Nature has been handicapped. A few bird lovers like Dr. Arnold teaching the young people in each community to know and respect the feathered creatures would quickly make this a prettier, more melodious, and more kindly world.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger speaks with great pride of the fact that the first boat through the Panama canal was named the "Pennsylvania" and thinks it fitting because Pennsylvania material went into making every part of the great work. It did, especially into the steel gates of the locks. By the way, judging from the dispatches, the managers of the Carbon Steel Company, whose employees have been indicted on charges of cheating the government by supplying inferior material for the locks, think they have quite satisfied the moral questions involved by announcing that few of the indicted men are now employed there. Did the company profit by the crooked work and will it restore the money among the things the public wants to know.

Is it not a strange fact that neither of the two American generals now waiting to lead the American army into Mexico are graduates of West Point? Funston holds back the forces at Vera Cruz waiting to press on to Mexico City and Wood is camping on the Rio Grande. Are we led to believe that book learning is unnecessary in military leadership?

A report recently issued as to the occupation of members of Harvard class 1910 announces that one is "engaged in literature," one is a "writer," and a third is "on the editorial staff of the American magazine." There are distinctions and there are differences, are there not?

Was it John P. Morgan's personality or the big fat job that he was holding which seemed so awful to the mind of Charles S. Mellen?

A CRITICISM

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The health committee of the Chamber of Commerce has advocated most commendable measures for the protection of the community from rabies and it was only proper for the city commissioners to adopt them.

But I wish to take exception to at least one of the reasons mentioned by that committee in advising such an ordinance. The tourist season, they say, is approaching and thus the tourists can see plainly that we are taking care of their health.

Is one time of the year more proper to take care of people's health than another? And isn't the health of our own citizens at least just as important as the welfare of the tourists?

Evidence is not as clearly demonstrated during the recent epidemic of hemorrhagic fever in children, of our city suffering from rabies and no preventive measures were advocated by either that committee or the board of health. In spite of the fact that their attention was called to it by the writer as well as many other physicians.

The concluding words of the recommendation are: "The chief consideration of this city is in looking after its (the tourist's) health and welfare." Dead wrong, gentlemen. The chief consideration of this city is in looking after the health and welfare of its own citizens.

MOSES AND THE PROPHETS

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Herbert Quick says that the late Joseph Feis, world leader of the single taxers, became a convert to that doctrine during the later years of his life. He was a Jew, but he belonged to the world. The Hebrew world has served humanity greatly and is giving us great men all the time. His greatest gift has been his prophetic.

A prophet is one who sees clearly, truly, deeply, and not one who foretells the future. The spirit of Hebrew prophecy has been of inestimable value to the world. Moses gave us the best and earliest ever put into law and until Henry George wrote, no better was proposed. "The land shall not be sold forever, for the land is mine," wrote Moses, and Joseph Feis lived to sow the world with this Mosaic truth.

Behold, the hire of your laborers, who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth; and the cries of them that have reaped and enter into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth. These words of the prophet of old rank in Mr. Feis' ears as a condemnation of the system by which he had grown rich, and which could not be bettered by "welfare work" which he despised, or by gifts to charity which he made even while he despised them, but by the extinction of monopoly, and of land monopoly first as the mother of all monopoly.

"The earth had he given to the children of men," does not mean to some of the children of men, but it means in the words of Thomas Jefferson, "that the earth belongs in usufruct to the living; and the dead have neither right nor power over it." Joseph Feis delighted in the power his wealth gave him to preach Henry George's truths during the latter years of his industrious, earnest life. He said he had made a lot of money under the present system and it troubled him. And when he died he left, he said, that he was still in debt to his work people, and to people who had been robbed of their inheritance. Joseph Feis belonged to the great school of Hebrew prophets. "The God of Israel created the land of earth for the inhabitants thereof" was written in letters of fire by the Creator of the universe, and so proclaimed by the authorized prophets of Hebrew inspiration—and later, by Joseph Feis, the great single tax writer and orator.

FRESH AIR

BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Shaws"

Fresh air is air which is not contaminated with carbon dioxide, water, dust, words, gossip or tobacco smoke. It consists of the highest quality of oxygen and nitrogen with a little ozone thrown in to give it tone and is the very finest article used for breathing purposes.

Out in the mountains, far from the haunts of man, the air is fresher than country butter. After a man has breathed in a few million cubic feet of it he can eat ox, oxen, and all, and think nothing of taking a small sized bear across his knees and spanking him severely. But the air in a large city is of a much inferior quality. It has been used so much and has been mixed with so many kinds of odors and gases and has had to mingled with so many sex plays in the theaters and so much politics outside that it is no better for breathing purposes than so much tar. After a baby has spent a few months in a one-room tenement breathing the air after six or eight older people have been using it and the sun has been frying it, it has added like an egg, the baby usually gives up in disgust and goes to a country where fresh music is used in place of oxygen to sustain life.

"He thinks nothing of taking a small sized bear across his knees and spanking him severely."

Be long practice some people can injure themselves to air which has not been changed for weeks. However, the same people can usually find comfort in a shirt which hasn't been changed for a year. Both practices are equally sane.

Americans are very fond of fresh air and consume enormous quantities of it, not only at baseball games and at the seashore, but on golf courses and sleeping porches. A sleeping porch is now used as a specific for a large number of diseases and its popularity grows. The country usually will be working for 30 cents an hour.

Fresh air strengthens the lungs, purifies the blood, steadies the temper, untangles the nerves, and braces up the morals. The air in the home should be changed at least once an hour and the air in the theater should be changed immediately after each doubtful joke and suggestive song. If the audience could be changed, too, it would have a great influence in uplifting the stage.

Color Characteristics

BY RUTH CAMERON

Did it ever occur to you that colors have characteristics just as people do?

It seems to me that they have.

For instance, don't you think this Keller green that we see so much of nowadays is a smart color? I always associate smartness with it just as I do with some people. When I see a man in a window yesterday with a display of Keller green vests and shoes and stockings, the impression I got was one of smartness just as if I had met a smartly dressed woman.

Dark blue is a quiet, refined color. Like quiet refined people, it does not obtrude itself upon one's consciousness and yet always leaves a pleasant impression. Neatness and simplicity are also associated with dark blue. It is a tailor-made color. There are probably more main tailored suits of dark blue than of all the other colors put together.

Red, it seems to me, is a friendly, cheerful color. There is a certain cordiality about it like the glow of an open fire. Of course, different tints and shades of the same color do not have the same characteristics as the basic color, indeed their characteristics may be as far apart as the poles. There is nothing the least smart about a good old-fashioned red, but there is a certain shade of red such as lobster and cerise which have as blatant a smartness as Keller green. Again, red has no suggestion of defiance about it, but its first cousin, scarlet, is distinctly a defiant, flaunting color. Then, take the different feelings you get from the different shades of pink. Old rose is distinctly old-maidish and old-fashioned. There is a deadness and primness about it. Shade off into coral and you get a gentle, thoughtful color, with a touch of quaintness, to be sure, but with no flavor of age or primness. Shade again into pink and you get a color with all the characteristics of youth.

Pink and blue are distinctly young colors. They belong to children and young people and they, some how suggest to youth, innocence and sentimentality of youth.

Black is peculiar in that it does not seem to have any inflexible characteristics of its own, but takes its character from the wearer. Perhaps this is because it is not a color, but merely the absence of color, and hence its negativity has to be made positive by that with which it is associated. Black may be said, it may be dull and unobtrusive; it may be showy; or it may be smart and stunning, according to its association.

Colors ought to be studied by every woman who wants to be really well dressed, for the relation of color to the person who wears it is an important factor in making a costume successful or unsuccessful. Colors can be becoming or unbecoming, not only to complexions, but to personalities. Every woman has certain colors which belong to her either by the right of harmony or of contrast.

What are your colors?

The Mexican Situation

THE PROPERTY RIGHTS OF AMERICAN CITIZENS

From the Dallas News.
There are unfortunately some Americans who would doubtless contend that property rights of American citizens are protected in Mexico just about as well as they are in some parts of the United States. The truth about this matter of protecting the property rights of subjects or citizens of foreign countries is that this sort of service has in certain instances been made a specialty because it furnished convenient pretexts for invasion and conquest. Subjects of a growing and aggressive nation residing in other countries have been utilized as the means of picking quarrels, of raising claims and of finding excuses for the annexation of territory. This being an easy means to a highly important end, and thousands of nonresident subjects having found fortunes in investments against west coast countries in which this matter of protecting the rights of subjects in other countries has appealed strongly to the avidity as well as to the patriotism of the more powerful and aggressive nations.

In so far as the legitimate protection of American citizens and their interests can be effected, there is no reason to believe that we, as a nation, are going to do any less in the future than we have done in the past. But it may be set down as a certainty, and all the adventurous gamblers, and trouble-hunters may govern themselves accordingly, that neither the governments of the United States nor the government of any other of the enlightened nations is ever going again to encourage any adventurous element to create excuses for invasion and conquest and causes of war as the alleged name has been played so often in the past.

On the other hand, legitimate investments in Mexico are certainly not subject to the wholesale condemnation which some poorly informed, rather have pronounced against them. Whether it be a railroad built by his business or a minor enterprise established for other business, it has as a rule, opened up new and better opportunities for the toilers of the country.

There have been in Mexico many outrageous instances of speculation and robbery. Some of the combinations of capital and influence and power have been merciless and insupportable. Men without souls in them have exploited the resources and the people of that country, just as they have turned the trick elsewhere, but the assertion that the wonderful work of development in Mexico has been merely a round of plunder, in which the victims have been exploited and their means of living taken away, is without foundation.

It is a significant fact that, being on the ground, the American opportunity has been provided for the poor, and offered higher wages to the poor, and that the Mexicans have been ever enjoying before in their lives. Without such development the masses of Mexico were indeed hopeless. They were ignorant and helpless. On the plantations and ranches in the mines and factories, on the railroads and in the ports they have been taught how to work and have been paid for their service more than they could ever obtain before. Of course, the economic conditions, speaking generally, are deplorable. There is much to be discouraged.

There is much to be discouraged, however, when the people, who are doing very much better, but their conditions are better than they were, and while the American people are by no means inclined to guarantee the losses of investors in Mexico, or to approve much of the exploitation that has gone on there under the schemes of investors from our own and from other countries, they are certainly not going to subscribe to the headlines and headlines of condemnation that wild, contributors and crazy orators are ready to heap upon them.

There are in Mexico American citizens and citizens of other countries who have legitimate property interests there, who desire to work for the work of development, who have been wronged in that country, and whose rights should have the sort of protection that is reasonable and legitimate.

COMMENTS

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

From their pictures the Mexican envoys appear to be civilized men. It must be a great surprise to those who foolishly imagined that practically every person in that country is a semi-barbarian.

Of course he will do as he pleases about it, but if we were in Old Man Huerta's place we would begin running around Chapultepec a few times every day in order to limber up and get in practice.

From the Kansas City Journal.

It is a constant reminder to the medicine of the difficulty of gaining tranquil waters.

One strange thing about the Mexican situation and plans for mediation is that while Villa got an "invite," Zapata was not included in the bid to mediate. What choice is there in bad eggs?

Huerta will "investigate" Parks' death. Huerta would also "investigate" administration's notes are always most "gravelly" when it finds it necessary to "officially" protect its "official" demand for "officially" punishment. What is the Mexican for "fish and fiddle" anyway?

If General Funston really plans to drive out of Vera Cruz all people who will not work, there is ground for the suspicion that the Americans will soon have the city all to themselves.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Complaint is made that Secretary Brown is absent from his office a good part of the time. When at his office, complaint is made that what he does would better have been left undone.

Don't accept too readily the report that Huerta has resigned. It was reported the other day that Huerta had fled to the coast. This competition among press correspondents is very strong.

EPIDEMICS DUE TO BUTTER

From time to time epidemics have been traced to the use of butter. One of the most widely known of these was an epidemic of typhoid fever at Asheville a few years ago. From time to time tubercle bacilli have been found in butter.

The number of epidemics traced to ice cream has been even larger. It is common knowledge among health officers that no conception of sanitation prevails generally among the most engaged in these industries. To inaugurate proper discussion of these industries, the milk standards commission of the New York State milk committee devoted their April, 1914, meeting to discussing the subjects of safe butter and safe ice cream.

Several members of the commission brought to the meeting the results of their investigations. One of these investigations was by Prof. C. W. Westley, one by Prof. R. A. Ravenel of Wisconsin, and a third by Prof. Rosenau of Harvard.

Prof. Rosenau reported that, out of 21 batches of butter examined, contained tubercle bacilli. Four of the samples were made from pasteurized milk. These were not examined for tubercle bacilli. The percentage of tubercular butters, as is about the same as that of tubercular milk.

The butter was inoculated into guinea pigs and two of the specimens caused the death by tuberculosis of the inoculated pigs.

The number of bacteria in 15 grains of butter averaged 2,500,000 for the salted butters and 30,000,000 for the unsalted. The lowest count was 5,000 and the highest 41,000,000.

Count reported that butter in cold storage was rapidly rid of bacteria; several millions would die in 10,000 in the course of a few days. Rosenau found that the reduction was 95.6 per cent in six weeks.

A number of weeks ago the Chicago health department examined cold-storage butters and found their bacterial counts many millions. It is possible that these butters originally had very high counts or that cold temperature varieties of bacteria grow after the first decline in the number of bacteria.

The butters examined were of different qualities. No relations between price and quality could be demonstrated. The high priced butters had as high bacterial counts as the lower. They scored 30 to 40 on the wall score card. None contained less than 100,000 more bacteria than the law allowed some contained vegetable dyes and some salt, but other than these no adulterant was found.

HAVE EXAMINATION MADE.

Mrs. S. S. writes: "Will you kindly explain to me why my whole body burns just as if I had a high fever as soon as warm weather comes? I never perspire. I have to keep my hands and feet in cold water as much as possible to get relief, and as soon as the weather gets a little warmer I chill all the time. This has been a terrible me almost helpless. I am weak and so tired and worn out and depressed all the time that I scarcely know how to live. My sleep never rests me. Could I not take something that would cool my blood in hot weather? I have been like this for many years."

REPLY.
I think you should see a physician and have him examine you thoroughly, including your blood. If you are found to have an organic disease, such as one of those mentioned in the above, your condition would be a great deal better. You would not be able to get some new plumes for my wife's hat.

REPLY.
If nature had made me an ostrich, said young Mr. Lang, one morning, I could have kept my head buried in the sand. You wouldn't that be fine? replied the wife. "Then I would be able to get some new plumes for my wife's hat."

AN ILL WIND

HARDSHIPS OF THE KING BUSINESS

George Fitch in Colliers.
Those envious people who imagine that being a king is one round of luxury and comfort in these days of great personal liberty when every king is entitled to dig with his boots off are sadly mistaken. Especially is this true with William of Wied who has gone down into Australia to hunt for diamonds in that brand new country.

William has been brought up in extreme luxury and knows a good thing when he sees it. He didn't see it when he reached his royal palace at Durazzo. To begin with, it was an old second-hand palace, which hadn't been used for the purpose for many years. His faithful subjects had done their best to furnish it in a hurry, but their attempts had been sketchy. There were ash barrels in the throne room and the royal banquet hall looked like a stable. The king's bedroom was a simple room in a southern hotel. More than all this, the palace had an extensive system of underground holes, which carry a large traffic. Doubtless all this discomfort will pass away in the next generation, but in the meanwhile our bosom does not swell with longing when we think of William hunting for a brick to use in lieu of an anvil on a cold Albanian morning, stuffing one corner of the royal ermine into a broken window in the library while trying to write a letter with a rusty pen and sticking his center into a rat hole in the royal bedroom at night to discourage burglars with the oldest inhabitants. For once with a modern Illinois home, with steam heat, storm windows and a good, hard-working, capacious cat with very little to do.

WHERE EMERALDS COME FROM

Columbia Furnishes the Greatest Supply Today—Some From United States

From the Pillars of the Panamerican Legion.
Where do they come from—these flashing stones of pure polished green that form the central setting on beauty's "protest gems"? Diamonds form but satellites when that rarest of jewels, a perfect emerald, flashes its fire, or lends its sheen to the jeweled-increased crown of royalty. Its birth is hidden in the mystery of nature's alchemy, but its beauty and charm have been recognized from the very dawn of history.

Emeralds flashed on the shield of Aachen, the Ptolemies of Egypt treasured them, and their lapidaries knew the art of engraving on their hard surfaces the mystic symbols of their ancient faith. Theban tombs revealed hidden choirs of emeralds among their long-buried treasures, while Heracleum and Pompeii have added their quota to the greed of modern excavators.

CORNER INSTITUTE AND CACHE LA Poudre

Now, Nero, that half-mad monster who once ruled the destinies of Rome, used an enormous emerald for a monocle, and in the filmy fabric of the gown or pleopatra emeralds shone in verdant luster.

Mount Zabarrah, in upper Egypt, is said to have been the source of many of these ancient gems, but centuries have passed since these prolific mines were exhausted, and modern jewelers must now depend upon the supplies in the spalls of Pizarro sent to Spain. In the dust-line sent to Spain were found the first fine specimens of American emeralds, and thus was revealed another source of the manifold wealth of the new world. Perhaps the most valuable single emerald found in modern times is the one in that famous collection of gems owned by the Duke of Devonshire.

It is said to be a perfect hexagonal crystal weighing eight ounces and is twenty weights, and two inches long. It came from the mines of Colombia, and it is this South American republic that furnishes the great supply of the emeralds known to the world today.

Not that Colombia is the only country that has emerald mines. Ecuador and Peru have contributed their share to the world's supply, and in the former country the city of Esmeraldas (Spanish for emeralds) takes its name from the precious stones found in its vicinity. Among the Aztec treasures of Mexico were found emeralds as fine as those of the Peruvian Incas, and it is reported that Cortes was offered 40,000 ducats for one of the gems he gathered from the hoard of Montezuma.

In some areas of the United States limited quantities of the precious stones are found, but the gems of greatest beauty and value are to be had from the Muzo and Cosque deposits near Bogotá, the capital of Colombia.

IRREVERENT PAGES NICKNAME SENATORS

Fred C. Kelly in Harper's Weekly.
During the brief opening prayer of the chaplain it may be noted that no two senators behave exactly alike. Senator Stephen leans over and wraps his desk by the front corners and streets it carefully through the invocation. Senator Smith of Michigan places his finger tip gently yet firmly on the back of his chair, and Senator Nelson lays his palms flat on his desk as if about to turn a hand-spring. The little page boys with bowed heads range themselves in a semicircle against the front desks and look so guileless and innocent that one would scarcely suspect the trusted manner in which they have nicknamed practically every senator on the floor. Mr. Myers of Montana and Mr. Simmons of North Carolina are known as Matt and Jeff. Mr. Pomfret of Ohio they call the Masons, because of his bad, earnest face. Senator du Pont is Gloomy Gus. And Reed Smoot is Lord Longbow.

Nicola Marshall, said to have designed the flag of the Confederacy and the gray uniform as well, is still alive and hearty at the age of 84. At the time the war broke he had a studio at Marion, Ala. And on recent painted a flag design, following which came the death for the uniform. He is still a resident of the south.

MINES MUST TAKE OLD EMPLOYEES BACK

DENVER, May 22.—A proclamation limiting the employment of men in the mines to men who were in the district at the time federal troops took charge, was posted today at the properties in the Boulder county coal fields. The proclamation is supplemented by order instructing military officers to make it effective at once. The proclamation is signed by Captain H. F. McKenna of the Twelfth United States cavalry. The proclamation says:

"To whom it may concern: It is the desire of the secretary of war that there shall be no change in the operation of any mines in this locality and that no labor other than the labor regularly employed in this locality and working in a mine in this locality be employed. Any person entering this locality not only violate the order of the secretary of war but any owner or owners also violate the orders of the secretary of war and such action or employment of such labor tends to defeat the object and ends for which the federal government is working."

TWO KILLED, TWO SHOT IN HOLDUP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—With drawn revolvers two masked men entered a road house on the southern outskirts of the city early today where eight men were playing Klondike. A card game. A general shooting that followed cost the lives of a player and one of the bandits. The other bandit was probably fatally wounded and another of the players received a wound in the neck.

The dead: DAVID WILLIAMS, JAMES RAILY. The wounded: Edward Donovan, Eugene Galatoire. Raily and Donovan, the highwaymen, rushed up to Con Rikan, one of the players, crying:

"We want you," and began firing. Rikan tumbled out of his chair quickly enough to escape the bullets.

Williams, who was dealing, tried to interfere and was shot through the head. The other players scrambled to cover.

William Marks, proprietor of the house, who was behind the bar, picked up a pistol and began shooting. The bandits turned their weapons on him and one of their shots struck Galatoire in the neck.

Having emptied their pistols the intruders fled, pursued by a rain of bullets from Marks' revolver. They ran up the road and Donovan boarded a street car. Raily was found dead by a crowd that had taken up the chase.

As Donovan entered the car he cried: "I have been shot." He was taken to a hospital where bullet wounds were found in his neck and chest. His condition is critical.

HIGH COST OF LIVING STRIKES FOREIGN MISSIONS

KANSAS CITY, May 22.—The effect of the high cost of living on home missions was pointed out in the annual report of the executive committee of home missions, presented to the fourth general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church here today.

It was asserted that where a missionary could live for $100 a year, ten years ago, now it costs him more than $1,200. For lack of funds the committee has on its hands 280 homeless churches and at least 275 other places where organizations might be effected.

ITALIAN POLICE SEARCHING FOR WOMAN'S ASSAILANT

FLORENCE, Italy, May 22.—Mrs. Mary Flavelle of Chicago, who was attacked and killed in a train near here yesterday, is still living this morning. A separate investigation of the affair is being made by Lee J. Keena, American consul general.

Later in the day it was announced that several arrests had been made and that the police believed the assailant of Mrs. Flavelle was among them.

SANTA FE TRAIN WRECKED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 22.—Passenger train No. 110, northbound on the Santa Fe main line to El Paso, was wrecked at La Jara, 40 miles south of Albuquerque, early this morning when a broken rail put the engine and seven cars into the ditch. The train was running slowly because of soft track and passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. Traffic was delayed eight hours.

The Santa Fe is having serious trouble with floods from the Rio Grande along the El Paso division.

STEAMERS COLLIDE

LIVERPOOL, May 22.—The White Star liner Baltic which sailed yesterday for New York collided today with the steamer Charlie off Holyhead. The liner did not suffer any damage and proceeded on her voyage to New York. The Charlie was only slightly damaged.

MORO OUTLAW AND BAND OF 300 HAVE SURRENDERED

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Alameda, the noted Moro outlaw and more than 300 men have peacefully surrendered at Cotabato, Mindanao, Governor General Harrison of the Philippines reported today. An outlaw since the Spanish regime, Alameda's surrender is regarded at the war department as evidence of the success of the present policy in the Moro country, where no troops are stationed.

RUSSIAN EDITOR SENT TO PRISON

ST. PETERSBURG, May 22.—Prince Nestchersky, editor and proprietor of the newspaper Grasshopper, was today sentenced by court-martial to a week's imprisonment for publishing revelations in regard to a meeting on the vessels of the Russian Baltic fleet in 1913.

EDITOR IS INJURED BY BOMB AT CALLAO

LIMA, Peru, May 22.—A bomb exploded today in the offices of El Comercio at Callao, and caused great damage. One of the editors was injured.

SUFFRAGE LIES TRY TO BURN OLD MANSION

LEICESTER, Eng., May 22.—An attempt early today by militant suffragettes to burn Stoughton hall, a picturesque mansion here was frustrated by a game keeper.

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS ARE FAVORED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Women Recognized by Church for First Time in Its History

HILL AGO, May 22.—Members of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church after devoting several hours today to the discussion of recommendations for new state laws for the regulation of marriage and divorce referred the subject back to the committee on Christian life and work for further consideration.

Before the assembly adjourns it is expected that a revised report strongly criticizing the present laws and suggesting desired legislative reforms will be adopted.

Alfred M. Ellis of Cairo, Ill., offered a resolution providing for a federal divorce law as a solution of the problem. He said the lack of uniformity in state divorce laws led to confusion and as a result most of the statutes were violated with impunity.

Recognize Women.

The assembly gave recognition to women by the adoption of an amendment to the church's form of government authorizing the election and ordination of deacons in a similar manner to the selection of elders, the church session to have the right of the new class of officers. Under the rule, the proposed amendment will be sent to the different presbyteries for approval and will not be effective until the local bodies have voted favorably on the proposition.

"Are the women to teach?" inquired a delegate.

"No, only serve," replied Chairman John Timothy Stone, who presented the committee report on the subject.

Question Up Several Years

The question has been before the general assembly for several years. The assembly approved the report of the social committee on church cooperation and union reviewing the efforts made for the confederation and where possible, the consolidation among churches of the reformed faith along lines suggested by the federated council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The Rev. Aquila Webb of Louisville was appointed vice moderator and among the standing committees and chairmanships selected: Edward E. Hastings of Fort Dodge, Ia., holds the education committee; the Rev. Minnie McClellan of Tacoma, Wash., ministerial relief committee; and the Rev. H. H. McKinnin, San Jose, Cal., aid for colleges.

Suffragettes Slash Valuable Paintings in Art Galleries

LONDON, May 22.—The anti women of the Women's Social and Political union, today continued their terror tactics by making two separate attacks on national art treasures.

The turning of the battle in the vicinity of Buckingham palace, where a column of determined women yesterday attempted to reach the king with a petition, had barely subsided when early this morning a woman armed with a loaded cane rushed into masterpieces in the national gallery.

Almost simultaneously another woman wrecked a picture hanging in the Royal Academy of Art. Both women were arrested.

A little later the magistrate before whom they were brought the 57 women arrested in connection with yesterday's disturbance was compelled to suspend the proceedings because the accused created such a din that nothing could be heard.

Priceless Paintings Damaged

The pictures damaged at the national gallery were a Madonna and child with infant saints, a portrait of Christ in Majesty, Saints John and Christopher and the Virgin, a landscape with the death of Saint Peter, and Christ's Agony in the Garden.

The paintings slashed at the Royal Academy were "Primavera" by George Clausen, a fashionable thoroughbred, a woman drew a butcher's cleaver and dashed at the picture. Attendants at once seized her and it was only the presence of the police which prevented her from being roughly handled by the spectators.

Both women refused to give their names. The national gallery vandal left a trail of blood behind her from cuts from broken glass. The national gallery was immediately closed and all the students turned out.

Scene in Police Court

The scenes at Bow street police court when the women arrested during yesterday's battle were arraigned today surpassed all previous efforts of the militant party. A male suffragist who somehow had found a perch among the rafters blew ear piercing variations of the "Marseillaise" on a cornet and then sounded "The Charge." This was a signal for volleys of bags of flour and other missiles to be thrown at the magistrate, Sir John Dickinson.

Three policemen were required to prevent one of the prisoners from throwing herself over the rail of the enclosure. Another woman removed her shoe and hurled it at the head of the magistrate, who caught it deftly in his extended hand.

When Sir John Dickinson suspended the hearing and ordered the court cleared there was a free fight. Subsequently the women were again brought in. Most of them were bound over to keep the peace for six months, but they unanimously refused to find sureties.

Theophile O. Grandpre of Chicago, who was knocked unconscious by a mounted policeman's horse during the suffragette raid on Buckingham palace, told the "mirror" today that he was robbed of $10 by two men who came to his assistance.

MAJOR J. FRANKLIN BELL, who is now in command of the Second brigade, U. S. A., stationed on the shores of the Rio Grande in Texas.

CARRANZA AGAIN TO MOVE HIS HEADQUARTERS; SAITILLO NEXT BASE

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 22.—It was considered probable by officials here today that General Carranza soon would move his headquarters, the seat of the insurgent government, from Durango to Saitillo, which recently was taken by Villa's troops. This would place the Constitutional commander-in-chief in the capital city of Coahuila state, where he served as governor under the Madero government. It has been known that Carranza has sent several emissaries recently to visit Saitillo in his present capacity.

Some news either from newspaper correspondents or through official channels was received today regarding the movements of federal or insurgent troops after the taking of Saitillo.

For several hours today General Carranza conferred over leased telegraph wires with Rafael Zubizaran, insurgent representative at Washington, and a member of Carranza's provisional cabinet. The matter discussed was not made known here, but it was believed to have referred to the pending negotiations at Niagara Falls between representatives of Carranza, Washington and Mexico City governments. It was said that Carranza had not returned to Mexico.

IOWA TOWN PRACTICALLY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

SIoux CITY, Ia., May 22.—(Saturday)—A telephone message from Hinton, Ia., 10 miles east of here, early this morning, said the town had been almost entirely destroyed from a fire which broke out in a hardware store.

The bank, a station hotel, a general store and several small concerns in the central part of the town have been destroyed.

A message was sent to the fire department here asking assistance.

HUERTA TO RESIGN; HE REFUSES; WHICH?

Dispatch Says He Now Is Willing to Sacrifice Self for Country

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—Extreme optimism was manifested in official circles today over the final outcome of the peace conference at Niagara Falls on the basis of the preliminary negotiations. The foreign office in particular is greatly pleased and confidence was expressed that the difference between the United States and Mexico would be satisfactorily arranged.

A high official and also President Huerta, according to the latest information, was willing to sacrifice himself for the good of the country and a settlement of the difficulties was now believed to be less difficult than before the conference began. President Huerta was said to be only concerned with a settlement compatible with the dignity and dignity of Mexico.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A Telegrapher's blunder was responsible for the incorrect announcement on May 20 that Huerta had given out a statement saying he had authorized the peace delegates to offer his resignation if necessary.

This dispatch was subsequently withdrawn on receipt of advices from Mexico City. An investigation immediately was started by the Associated Press to determine the responsibility and how it is a receipt of statement from the Western Union Telegraph company, stating that its receiver in the Galveston office misread the word "denying" thinking it "saying," which gave a directly contrary meaning to the dispatch.

Dr. Urrutia Still Is Under Guard of American Marines

VERA CRUZ, May 22.—Picking up 150 Americans who had arrived there from Mexico City, the steamer Monterey sailed for New Orleans from Puerto Mexico late today, according to advices received by W. W. Canada, American consul here.

The Monterey carries over 450 Americans in all. The Americans gathered here, who are anxious to return to the United States, probably will be quartered on board the navy transport Hancock until enough refugees arrive to warrant the ship's departure for an American port. The Monterey is the last of the chartered refugee ships in Mexican waters.

Consul Canada also has been advised that John R. Sullivan, vice consul at Saitillo, whose arrest and detention have been the subject of many communications between Washington and Mexico City, will arrive here tomorrow from the capital on a train flying the British flag.

Relief for Americans

Relief was felt today over the situation of 15 Americans from the interior believed to be at Alvarado, who were said to have experienced hardship in an effort to reach the coast. The fact that Alvarado, which lies about 45 miles south of Vera Cruz, either is without troops or is in the hands of Constitutionalists, insures their eventual arrival here.

The party is said to have started to the coast from ranches when the news that the Americans had landed spread through the country. At first they were held by the federalists, but they finally passed on through the federal lines bound for the coast. The last report reaching Consul Canada was that the Constitutionalists had promised to see them safely on their way.

Dr. Urrutia Still at Vera Cruz

Brigadier General Funston insisted today that the army had nothing to do with the release of any Constitutionalists landing in the northward. He asked what prospect there was to get rid of Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, General Funston declared he had no idea when the Mexican politician would depart for Europe.

The company of marines charged with the safeguarding of Dr. Urrutia is undergoing considerable hardship because of the faithfulness with which the men are fulfilling their task. Every individual who moves about the hotel or the streets in its neighborhood is under their most rigid observation.

A BIG "SCOOP"

From Colliers.

The foreign newspaper correspondents in Mexico City heard of the landing of the marines at Vera Cruz almost by the time the first of our whale boats bumped its nose against the wharf, and there was a desperate effort to get the news past Huerta's censors. Nothing, that looked like a war telegram was allowed to go over the wire to the Vera Cruz cable of the world was still in the hands of Mexican and all-day correspondents out one were in despair. The one who did not lose hope was William G. Shepherd of the United Press. Shepherd went to the censors with this harmless-looking message: "United Press New York. Films forwarded in Vera Cruz."

The censors could see no war news in the dispatch, and let it pass. It was relayed via Galveston and reached New York at 3:10 in the afternoon. The United Press editors referred to a cipher code that Shepherd had sent in several months before and found this:

"Our troops have entered Mexico!"

Read: "Films forwarded."

Films forwarded in Vera Cruz meant, of course, that the American forces had landed there. The dispatch was immediately flashed to all newspapers with United Press service, which reached their readers with all before the other papers knew what had happened. It was a big "scoop" for the United Press and Shepherd became a hero in newspaper circles.

MILITANT INVADERS ARCHBISHOP'S HOME

LONDON, May 22.—Miss Anne Kenney, one of the chief organizers of the Women's Social and Political union today made herself the self-styled guest of the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth palace. With a party of militant suffragette friends, she proceeded in a motor car to the palace and succeeded in obtaining entrance, afterwards refusing to leave until she had seen the archbishop.

Miss Kenney succeeded in seeing the archbishop and making a statement to him, but the police, having been informed of her presence in the archbishop's house, went to Lambeth palace and arrested her under the "cat and mouse" act, and placed her in Holloway jail. Later, it was reported that the archbishop gave Miss Kenney up to the police, but this was denied at the palace.

'Mother' Jones Opposes Woman Suffrage; Points to Colorado Conditions

NEW YORK, May 22.—"Mother" Jones, one of the leaders of the United Mine Workers here, to plead for the striking miners of Colorado, disappointed her hearers at a dinner in her honor tonight with her views on votes for women.

"I have never seen any material benefit result from granting women the vote," she said. She pointed to conditions in Colorado, where women have been voting for 21 years.
